WHAT HAVE WE DONE FOR THE COMMUNITY?

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

As a corporate citizen of the world ADCO Group of Companies has a responsibility to give back to the community that accounts for its clients and customers. As the Somalia narrative has been over the years, the United Nations has placed the country as having the worst living conditions in the world has ranked the country. Through its own initiative ADCO has been involved in different projects that have included conflict resolution, provision of education and easing access to clean water.

Between 1990 and 2020 ADCO has dug 89 wells in Somalia. In view of this ADCO initiated a new model of dealing with this by making the communities have ownership of this wells.

This model has now been adapted by the UN.

In addition, ADCO provides technical assistance to the communities by providing spare parts when the pumps are damaged.

EDUCATION AND SCHOOL PROGRAM

ADCO helping poor orphan children to transform their lives and their families as Somalia's civil strife continued the lives of many children and the youth were affected as schools were destroyed and both the pupils and teachers stayed away from schools due to security concerns. As a business leader ADCO took the initiative and built an elementary school in lower Shebelle region.

Today about 400 hundred pupils attend this school with ADCO paying the salaries of all the teachers. In addition to this, ADCO together with other donors is supporting a children's orphanage in the Mudug region which takes care of 220 children by providing shelter and education tuition fees. In the same vein of helping the youth, ADCO gives monthly social benefits such as money to poor family so as to avoid having the families take their children out of school and into child labour situations.

YOUTH SPORTS PROGRAMS EDUCATION

Sport for children and youth fostering development and strengthening education. ADCO Group established youth sport soccer team to use of sports tournaments and other extracurricular activities that help the youth stay out of bad vices and joining militias and piracy. The Mogadishu youth sports club now has a local football team that plays in the Somali football league.

ADCO Group Team as part of their corporate social responsibility established soccer team in Mogadishu to use sport to equip young people with the skills and knowledge they required to create change and ensure a valuable contribution to enduring peace. The objective was to fill the void for young people in the world's most troubled communities, drawing upon the power of sport to instil tolerance, respect and understanding and conflicts left a void in their lives which could be filled with many negative elements, which in turn led to the perpetuation of conflict.

Today, young people face many obstacles in their transition from childhood to adulthood. In many parts of the world, lack of access to education, unemployment and the scourge of HIV/AIDS exacerbate these difficulties. For boys and girls growing up in conflict situations, the challenges are even greater, as violent conflict impacts negatively on all dimensions of their lives. At the same time, feelings of exclusion can contribute to the emergence or continuation of violence.

Youth are often a targeted group during conflict. Young people's participation in armed hostilities is facilitated through the trade of small arms and light weapons. The dearth of opportunities in their communities often leads them to gravitate towards violent conflict acts.
